MEMORANDUM FOR: MR. DULLES

I have pretty well confirmed my suspicion that GSA will stand on the technicality that there is no Public Buildings Commissioner and, therefore, will not vote at the NCPC Hearing.

I talked to Max Elliott, the General Counsel, who, very much off the record, concurred in the logic of my point of view but was extremely doubtful that he could persuade Mansure to change his mind.

I am drafting a letter which I believe you might want to send to Mansure in these circumstances. However, inasmuch as you had mentioned the possibility of taking this up with Sherman Adams I thought you ought to know the score before you reached the White House this morning.
